

Franktown Family Medicine, LLC Rev. 12/22

Notice of Insurance Coverage

Important Information Regarding Insurance Coverage of your Well Woman Exam

These services are usually covered by most insurance companies/plans under your preventative benefits:

- Medical History Review
- Weight, height, blood pressure, and BMI calculations
- Pelvic exam, pap smear, breast exam, and physical exam
- Routine medication refills

We may take urine/ blood samples. We may order other lab work when indicated necessary. Lab, pap smear, and pathology charges are separate from today's office charges and are billed by a third party and not Franktown Family Medicine, LLC.

What is not covered?

- Your well woman exam does not cover evaluation and management of medical concerns. Examples including but not limited to: menopause, hormones, menstrual irregularities, infertility, depression, pre-conception counseling, pelvic pain, surgery consults, and procedures such as mole removals and biopsies.

What if I have a medical issue that needs to be addressed today?

- With time permitting, your provider may welcome discussing and providing any service needed, however, you may be responsible for payment for any service that is not part of your well woman exam, including co-payment, co-insurance, or deductible.
- You may also have the option of being seen today for your medical issue and we will be happy to reschedule your well woman exam for a later date.
- Please note, requesting changes to coding is unlawful and will be denied.

By signing, you will acknowledge that you received a copy of this notice and are obligated to pay all charges for treatment not paid by your insurer or any other payor source.
